GENERAL MANAGER MESSAGE

When you are born into the fascinating world of gases and into a family with such a vocation for service, growing the organization becomes a challenging task.

It is not just looking for talent, people with experience and expertise in the industry, or seeking their growth and development within the organization, and looking for tools that allow an effective and efficient operation. It is thinking daily about the strategy to embark each member on this journey of wanting to go further, of living and becoming part of this industry and feeling passion for service.

Today I see a committed team, geared harmoniously to ensure customer satisfaction, that strives and always goes one step further, to do more and continuously improve. People who love what they do and understand the importance of each one within this wonderful process that is to serve.

I recognize in the disposition of each one, the impetus, the kindness, the dreams and the commitment that they show; to my family, the Equigas family, this great family that grows together.

This family is joined by the passion for what we do!
